“ The memories I have with Shannon I could write a book. We might have been cousins but raised like sisters. We had an unbelievable amount of fun together, we fought, we hurt, we explored, we made good and bad choices. For a while we went silent but, in the end the silence ended we knew we loved, missed, and respected each other. I will think of you often, when our song randomly plays, when I touch a squishy nose, when I goto the causeway, or see a "breastisest" in my travels. I love you forever 🧡 My love to your children and Uncle Rob and Aunt Cheryl ❤️ 🐸
